Introduction

Having an amputation is life changing and can be hard to adapt to, you are not alone.

It is important to seek help from peers and professionals to help you at this time. It is normal to have feelings of distress and anxiety we hope this leaflet will help, if you have any concerns please discuss with the prosthetic team.

Amputee Charities/Support Groups

There are many amputee charities that provide peer support virtually, face to face and organise events to help you return to activities that you enjoy.
